Fond du Lac, Aug. 5.—The young people of North Fond du Lac must be in their homes at nine o'clock in the evening during the summer months and at eight o'clock in the winter or they will be arrested. The village board, at a meeting last night, decided that there were too many youngsters roaming the streets at night, and passed a curfew ordinance. The ordinance will be enforced by the village police. The passage of the curfew ordinance was due mainly to the frequent complaints that have reached the council of numerous cases of "spooning" in various parts of the village at questionable hours of the night.

TEAMSTERS MEETING TO DISCUSS PEACE

International Brotherhood of Teamsters to Try to Bring About Better Conditions.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 5.—Delegates from many cities throughout the United States and Canada arrived today for the annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. The sessions of the convention will begin tomorrow and probably will last a week or longer, as much important business is to be transacted.

The affairs of the brotherhood, especially as regards the membership, are not in as satisfactory condition as the officers and leaders of the organization could wish. Steps will be taken at the present convention to bring about more satisfactory conditions. It is hoped that an agreement will be reached with the United Teamsters of America. The latter organization was formed as a result of dissatisfaction with the management of the teamsters' strike in Chicago several years ago. The organization then split into two factions which have been at loggerheads ever since. The conservative element is now at work on plans to bring about a permanent truce between the two bodies and hope is entertained that ultimately an amalgamation of the two may be accomplished.

SILLY SEASON OFFICIALLY USHERED IN THIS MORNING BY ALL THE NEWSPAPERS

Kaiser's Mustache Singed!--Banquet Of "Pralerie Eels"!--Eva Tanguay's Torrid Salome Dance!--The "Double Veil" And The "Saucy Slash"! Topics Of Lead Stories In Metropolitan Journals.

"ALL HARLEM PALES AS EVA TANGUAY, CLAD IN A FEW PEARLS AND SOME GAUZE, GIVES TORRID EXHIBITION OF SALOME DANCE, WITH VARIATIONS!"

"KAISER'S MUSTACHE SINGED: BERLIN IS SAD--DISASTER TO EMPEROR WILLIAM'S CAPILLARY ADORNMENT SENDS GRIEF TO HEARTS OF THE COURTIER--MERCELESSNESS IS GONE!"

"HAVE A LITTLE MORE SNAKE! SAID HORT ALLEN--NEW-TON, NEW JERSEY, MAN GIVES HIS GUESTS 'PLAQUE RIDE' AND THEN THEY THINK THEM SIMPLY GRAND!"

"SAUCY SLASH! GIVEN SOCIETY'S SANCTION--FIRST SHOCK OF SWEATH GOWN PASSES AND CHICAGO'S MOST EXCLUSIVE AND CONSERVATIVE MATRONS AND MAIDS NOW HAVE THEIR ORDERS IN FOR FALL DELIVERY!"

"DOUBLE VEIL ACCEPTED HERE--WINS FAVOR WITH DISCERNING CHICAGO WOMEN BECAUSE IT MAKES THE EYES APPEAR PRETTY--TAKE UP THE FAD EVEN BEFORE NEWPORT OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCES IT!"

"SACRED KISS! THE LATEST--CHURCH ORGULATION CAUSES SCANDAL IN SOUTHERN INDIANA TOWN OF RICHMOND, BUT THE PEOPLE LIKE IT!"

"DISCOVERY CALLED AN ERROR--PHYSICIAN CORRECTS COMMISERON MEN WHO SAID THAT VOLKMER TO TOPS OF COLD STORAGE BINS!"

Read the headlines of a few of the big lead stories in the metropolitan newspapers today and agree that the silly season is here. It arrived this morning beyond peradventure of a doubt, with the best collection of sly surprises and shockers on record.

Count Zeppelin's twenty-four hour, 250 mile airship trip from Friedrichshafen on the shores of Lake Constance, Switzerland, to Mayence, on the Rhine, shares honors with the illustrated story of how the Kaiser's mustache singed, and was commingled to part with the other for the sake of symmetry. "Get out of here, you knoodle! Roll your hoop!" yelled the Kaiser in classic German (according to the fancifully decorated reports) to the shorn Emperor tried to get into one of his favorite toilets.

The little-known dinner is given good space and position and so is the dispatch telling about the organization of the cult of the "Sacred Kiss" by a Brown county, Indiana, minister. The name of the clergyman is not mentioned, but this is a thrilling oversight which even the earping critic should cheerfully overlook.

As to the "saucy slash," a Chicago female expert on such subjects by the name of John Candour, blithely announces that a gown worn by Mrs. Harold McCormick "had the impudent sinister slash, albeit 'twas muzzled from top to bottom with good, strong, satin covered buttons. Then, at the Kohlman-Palmer wedding, Mrs. Honore Palmer, who is always reckoned as precise as a Puritan, wore a modified directoire of black satin and chiffon. A few darts more and the satin underpinnings would have been the perfect sheath, but there were yards and yards of chiffon atop of it. Still, chiffon is not especially blanketing. Safe to say, Mrs. Honore Palmer's gown was so typical of the mooded mode that it could blazon the path for the genuine article. Wait till fall!"

"Telegraph advice from New York announcing that the 'double veil' discarded some years ago has been taken up within a day or so by the Newport set were followed yesterday by the discovery that Chicago women already have made inroads upon the supply of these veils laid in by far sighted merchants. By drawing the new device across the bridge of the nose under one of the big hats which are growing bigger, the most charming triangular glimpse is had of a forehead which will insist upon looking broad and fair whether it is or not, and the eyes appear to advantage. And if there chances to be a little perpendicular mark, not to say wrinkle, between the eyebrows, it either is invisible or looks as if it were the one touch necessary to make the picture complete."

Eva Tanguay who was last seen on the Janesville stage six years ago, comes in for two column mention in connection with her Salome dance at the Alhambra theatre, New York, last evening. Harlem is still gasping, according to the voracious correspondent, who goes on to say: "The dance was undeniably successful, but so torrid that it made Gertrude Hoffman's and Maude Allan's versions cold by comparison and left Olive Fremstad's dance in the Strauss-Wilde opera a pallid, frigid memory."

"Her costume consisted of a few strings of pearls and a few ripples of gauze and when the dancer glided into view to the accompaniment of snaky music Harlem turned pale, then red. Salome is supposed to have been the original wicked wiggler, and the fair Eva postured and wiggled in the most approved manner. Then the property head of John the Baptist came into play, and the dancer and the long boarded "prop" became confidential, while the audience, not knowing what else to do, giggled."

"The demand for an encore was vigorous and Miss Tanguay in her bare little pink toes and Salome 'costume' came out and porpoised 'I Don't Care,' her old success, and this time the audience stood up and howled. They liked the old specialty better."

M'GOVERN OPENLY CLAIMS BACKING OF LA FOLLETTE In An Address At Richland Center--Declares That The Representations Of Other Candidates On This Score Are Fraudulent.

Richland Center, Wis., Aug. 5.—A speech to the Journal from Richland Center, Wis., by a staff correspondent, says: for the first time in the campaign for the United States senatorship, Francis M'Govern, before a good sized audience in the court house here last night, referred publicly to the claim of the Nation supporters that Senator La Follette is backing the candidacy of Mr. Hutton. Mr. M'Govern threw down the gauntlet to the Nation men and backed his action with no less authority, he said, than Senator La Follette himself. "Senator La Follette," he said, "prefers not to say that I have this from him personally and the statement peddled has been spent in any campaign in about this state in behalf of one of the other candidates for the United States senate that he is the choice of Senator La Follette is a fraud, an untruth, and misleading. They have also repeated a lying statement about my intending to withdraw as a candidate. I want to say emphatically again that I shall stay in the contest until the primary election determines who shall remain in the field for the election proper."

Mr. M'Govern, in the course of his talk dwelt principally with the influence of great corporations over legislators, referring to the money being sent by other candidates for the United States senatorship in the state. "There will be more money spent in this campaign," he said, "than was spent in any campaign in Wisconsin in the last twelve years."

FELL INTO CINDER PIT AT NEW YARDS

Floyd Murray of Fond du Lac had Face Badly Cut Last Evening.

This morning at about three o'clock, Floyd Murray a fireman working for the Northwestern road, living at Fond du Lac, fell into a cinder pit at the new yards, striking on the forehead. His forehead was very badly cut, but no other serious injuries were sustained. Mr. Murray came down this morning on an extra train arriving here about three o'clock. The train went down to the new yards and the engine was taken up to where the dispatcher assumes charge of the engine to run it to the cinder pit and then put it in the house. The fireman got off and started to walk up to the round house and in doing so reached the cinder pit before he expected. Luckily he struck on a pile of cinders which saved his life. As it was, he lost considerable blood. Dr. Woods was called and attended to the injured man's wounds and the man returned home this morning.

HAVE DIFFICULTY IN FIXING RATES

Rate Commission Ruling Requires City and Country Patrons to Pay Same Rate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Clinton, Aug. 4.—The local telephone company are having trouble in deciding what is wise to do as regards the charge to make for service. It seems that the rate commission insists on the same rate for all, which means that the village patrons are to pay for their own and at least one-half the expense of the country lines.

WAS TOO PARTICULAR TO BUY IT AT HOME

But the Dining Room Table Purchased by Janesville Lady in Chicago Was Delivered by Local Factory.

A short time ago the wife of a business man wanted a new dining room table and made a tour of inspection among the furniture stores of this city. In one place was a table about the style and size she desired and the price seemed reasonable, but the table was made by a Janesville firm and the lady did not buy, giving her reasons to a friend that perhaps there would be so many tables in Janesville homes just like this one. She hoped to find a table a little different and much better when she went down to Chicago. On her trip to Chicago she visited a well known furniture store and was shown nearly half a hundred tables to select from and at last chose a table that met her fancy. Of course she had to pay more but it was different and so much better. A few days later the wagon from our local factory drove up to her home and delivered a table to her according to orders received from the Chicago firm where she made the purchase and it was the same table she had picked in the Janesville store made in Janesville and sold at a higher price at Chicago, which made it better.

THREE BARRELS OF INJECTION FLUID TO CURE

Frederick Sterns of Springfield, Minn.

Special to the Gazette:
With unusual interest we mention the cure of Frederick Sterns, a prominent citizen living at Springfield, Minn., who has been suffering with cancer, was cured by Dr. Ren with three injections of fluid. It took three barrels of twenty drops each, enough to fill a hypodermic syringe full three times, of this injection fluid to cure him. Mr. Sterns will be pleased, of course, to correspond with any who are afflicted and in need of this wonderful treatment.
Incidents are few and far between where doctors cure cancer. As a rule, physicians are unable to do it and wait for patients to come to them. Some wait until they are forty, some fifty, some seventy, and some a lifetime. This has not been the policy of Dr. Ren. A man who has been in prison for twenty years, treating exclusively diseases of a chronic nature and diseases that have been treated without success in the ordinary way. Dr. Ren has had the experience of hospital training in Europe and America, and has had the experience of the best medical assistants that the world can produce. Patients who treat with him can be fully convinced that he will deal with them honorably, that his system is based on a knowledge of science and not upon theories of the country cross-road doctors. True, Dr. Ren has cured cancer, but he has cured those to whom credit belongs, and if a cross-road doctor has a good cure, if he knows it to be such, if he is convinced by reason of his experience as such, give it credit, give it praise, and give it wide circulation.

Mr. Henry Wischstadt, Sleepy Eye, Minn., cured of a very serious ailment of the rectum, and speaks in the highest praise of Dr. Ren. He was cured of his ailments after other treatment, other remedies, and other doctors had failed. Mr. Wischstadt was afflicted for six years. Had tried all kinds of advertised remedies, cures, and many doctors, and they were unable to do him any good or give him any relief. Wanted to operate on him. He was refused. Last summer he was scarcely able to stand on his feet. The last work played him out.

William School, Alexandria, Minn., cured of protruding piles of fourteen years standing. Cured by the injection method.

John Hulla, Piers, Minn., cured of double cross-eyes. Cured without operation.

Mrs. John Block, Holdingsford, Minn., cured of varicose veins and sore legs.

Mrs. John Gmether, Long Prairie, Minn., cured of chronic ulcerated sore legs.

Albert Zika, Le Sueur Center, Minn., cured of cancer of the nose by the hypodermic injection method.

Mr. Zika has recommended many patients and Dr. Ren's office are crowded each and every time he goes to Le Sueur. These patients, of course, come by reason of having been recommended by others. This is true throughout the entire practice of Dr. Ren.

Shelia Centerville, Detroit, Minn., has been treating with Dr. Ren for several months. Had a very serious ailment. She writes that she is thankful. That she doesn't need any more medicines now.

William Olson, Clear Lake, S. D., cured of blindness. Had been in the sanitarium of Hudson, Wis. Doctors there after treating him, so he said, pronounced him incurable and sent him home. Went to Dr. Ren and was completely cured in a short time.

S. M. Moore, Gladstone, N. D., writes: "Dr. Ren, you cured my son over a year ago. I have another sick boy, and want you to doctor him."

Wm. Reid, Little Falls, Minn., cured of cancer of the lip in one treatment.

Mrs. George Kosanaka, St. Cloud, Minn., cured of cancer of the womb.

Miss Martha Murphy, St. Cloud, Minn., says: "Dr. Ren saved my life by curing me of chronic ulcerated stomach."

Miss Emma Gehring, McIntosh, Minn., writes: "Dr. Ren, you are curing me of constipation. My cough is all gone."

Dr. Ren devotes his time and interest in the practice of his profession exclusively to the treatment of diseases of men, diseases of women, chronic diseases, nervous diseases and lung diseases.

Special to the Gazette:
The many patients of Dr. Ren will be glad to know that he has arranged his next professional visit, and will visit the towns as stated here below. This coming of Dr. Ren will enable his many patients to consult with this eminent specialist close to their homes. Consultation and examination to those interested, $1.00.

WORST IS OVER IN CANADA FIRE

FLAMES NOW RAGE IN SPARSELY SETTLED COUNTRY.

ESTIMATES OF THE LOSS

Fifty Lives and Property Worth $7,000,000 Probably Destroyed—Origin of Conflagration Not Known.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 5.—The terribly destructive forest fires which have swept through the Crow's Nest district of the Elk river valley in British Columbia since last Saturday, devastating a vast stretch of territory, destroying many lives and millions of dollars of property, wiping out entire towns and rendering thousands of persons homeless, are still raging, but are now sweeping a wild and sparsely settled country, and it is believed the worst is over.

Stories of missing settlers are coming from Fernie, Cranbrook, Michel, Hoosier and other places, but many of those have turned up at some point far from their original habitation and it is not believed the death list will exceed 50.

Property Loss Very Great.
The property loss has been very great, but this, too, is difficult to estimate correctly. A conservative valuation would probably place the amount at $6,000,000 and $7,000,000.

Several thousand persons have been rendered homeless, principally residents of Fernie, which, according to all accounts, is almost completely wiped out, scarcely more than a score of buildings being left where once a prosperous town of 5,000 inhabitants stood.

There has been suffering among the homeless owing to lack of food and shelter, but this has been partly relieved by the prompt action of the people of every city in British Columbia as well as many of those on border states, in sending both money and supplies to the burned districts.

Summary of the Results.
A summary of the results of the fires has been prepared here which is believed to be a conservative estimate as to loss of life and property destroyed. It is as follows:

Town of Fernie, about 5,000 inhabitants, practically wiped out, loss of 20 lives and $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 in property. Insurance about 50 per cent.

Town of Hoosier, about 800 inhabitants, partly burned, with loss of one life and $250,000 in property. Three hundred persons homeless.

Town of Michel, believed not seriously burned, but four persons reported killed and property destroyed in vicinity estimated at $1,000,000. Details unavailable, owing to lack of communication.

Town of Sparwood, sawmill village, two killed and large mills destroyed. Damage estimated at $250,000. Damage to standing timber throughout the burned area estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Many pathetic stories of flight and, in many instances, of the death of unfortunate settlers who were caught in the swirl of flames as it swept through the great forests of pine and fir, are coming in from the various points with which communication has been re-established. It has not been determined how the fire started, whether through carelessness or design.

QUAKERS TO PLAY BREWERS.
Philadelphia Aldermen in Milwaukee for Return Daff Game.

Milwaukee, Aug. 5.—Forty members of Philadelphia's board of aldermen arrived in Milwaukee on a special train over the Chicago & Northwestern railroad Tuesday night to play a return baseball game with members of Milwaukee's common council, who were defeated at the hands of the Philadelphia a year ago.

Strikers and Deputies in Battle.
Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 5.—At Lawburg, nine miles north of Birmingham, Tuesday night a group of strikers threw a heavy charge of dynamite against the stockade surrounding the mines. The men then ran to a ridge nearly a mile from the stockade and opened fire with rifles. No less than 300 shots were fired into the stockade and the 20 or more deputies around the mines returned the fire with vigor. So far as known no one was injured.

New York Broker Arrested.
Chicago, Aug. 5.—Robert E. Eastman, a New York Consolidated exchange broker, known for the last 20 years in Wall street as "Lange Hob," was arrested in Chicago Tuesday night on a fugitive warrant charging him with obtaining money by false pretenses. It is alleged that Eastman overdraw his account with the Mechanics National bank between $15,000 and $18,000, and that he also owes $25,000 to clients.

Four Chicagoans Drown at Galena.
Galena, Ill., Aug. 5.—Four members of a Chicago family were drowned here Tuesday afternoon while bathing.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McMaster and Mr. and Mrs. Albert McMaster. A fifth member of the party, Miss Laura Heehner, a sister of Mrs. Albert McMaster, had a narrow escape from sharing the fate of the others when she attempted to swim to their rescue.

Stay in New York.
Nearly one-third of the immigrants who arrive in the port of New York never go beyond the city for a home

Science and Invention

NO MORE FEATHER STORMS

Machine Fills Pillows Without Trouble and Without Heat.

In the old days, when a pillow was to be filled with feathers the job was done in a hermetically sealed room, and even at that the feathers flew to all corners. An Indian man has patented a device by which mattresses and pillows are filled direct from the picking machine and inflated at the same time, and the filling goes into the case and not on the floor. By this invention an air blast from the discharge pipe of a machine is sent into the mattress tick, which is drawn up to the mouth of the pipe. The

It gives uniform thickness, air enters the ticking, and the hair, or whatever the filling material may be, is also shot through the pipe and delivered in a layer of uniform thickness. The opening which was left for the pipe is now closed, and the mattress or pillow is ready, filled in a fraction of the time that was formerly consumed, and without the loss of material. With this device any number of tickings can be stuffed from any number of picking machines in one big room.

REEL FOR CLOTHESLINE

Hope Can Be Wound Upon It

The servant problem has been held responsible for the growth of flats and apartment houses in American cities, and all sorts of plans are tried to make the life of the domestic pleasanter. In this connection a West Virginia man comes to the rescue with an invention that will lighten the labor of the maid-of-all-work.

HELPS THE WASHWOMAN.

and the washwoman and turn the ticking down of the humble clothesline into an artistic operation. This man has devised a reel, on which the line can be gathered quickly and neatly, and she who presides over the family wash will no longer have to loop the rope over thumb and elbow. The reel is in the form of a large wheel or iron framework, with a handle in the center by which it may be turned and another handle at one end by which it may be turned. The line is fastened to a V-shaped head in the hub and rolled over the reel with neatness and dispatch. If the line is wet the iron framework gives it a better chance to dry than when it is folded in the old way.

SCIENCE NOTES

The Aluminum Company of America has contracted for 37,000 horsepower of the output of the new station of the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power and Manufacturing Company. This project is the largest power plant at Niagara and it will in all probability be the last one permitted to draw upon the great cataract. The

MEASURES LUMBER

Device Records Each Foot as Boards Are Passed Through.

Lumbermen and lumber millmen will appreciate the thought a man in Louisiana has put on a machine he has just patented. This machine is designed to measure lumber, and not only measures it, but records the measurements in a way that is much quicker than the old system and vastly more accurate. The machine has a chute through which the stockpiles or planks are slayed. As they pass through they touch a revolving shaft, which as it turns registers the distance it covers. Each foot is recorded upon an appliance attached to the side.

It is only necessary to consult this register to find how many feet of lumber have passed through the machine. This device is not only a discovery of great value, but the possibility of mistakes in measurement are practically eliminated, and the stock can be measured by any person, whether he has a knowledge of figures or not.

new machine is 50 feet long, 70 feet wide at the front and 20 feet wide at the rear end, and is designed to hold a depth of 25 feet of water. It is expected that water will be let into one or more of the 9 feet penstocks this week. Four 10,000-horsepower units are in place in the station below the high bank. There are to be 15 of these units, making the total capacity of the new station 150,000 horsepower. Each turbine will have its own penstock. The shafts will be horizontal and run at right angles to the length of the powerhouse, which will be divided by a central wall, the turbines to be placed on one side and the generators on the other.

The New York Central Railroad maintains nine apprentice schools along its lines, where workmen are trained for the duties of the company. These apprentices are paid from 12 to 20 cents per hour, according to the length of time which they have served and upon reaching three years satisfactorily are given a diploma, after which the pay is 32 cents an hour. The time schools had over 400 pupils last year and the cost of their education was $17,000. They are provided with a complete list of general knowledge, which entire time is given to this work. He keeps out the course of instruction and attends to all the details of the operation of the schools.

A notable feature demonstrating the value of the moving picture machine in scientific work is that of a remarkable series of films recently secured of the peccaries on Pelican Island, Fla., by Frank M. Chapman, of the American Museum of Natural History. These pictures show the habits of the birds during the nesting season, which are pecking and interesting, and which are pecking and interesting. This particular expedition was made to procure material for a "habitat group" illustrating the history of the life, at one time so characteristic a feature of Florida. He succeeded in securing, doubtless the last general trophy of the region. The museum group will contain large and small White Egrets, Roseate Spoonbills, Louisiana and Blue Herons and White Ibis.

The work of creating a 20-foot channel along the St. Lawrence River from Montreal to the sea is almost completed. But a few miles of the dredging is yet to be done. The immediate result of the dredging of this work will be a reduction of the insurance rates on vessels entering the stream which has long been a burden seriously affecting the St. Lawrence shipping. The improvement covers a distance of 340 miles from Montreal to Father Point, but has been concentrated mainly on the 220 miles from Montreal to the Traverse. This channel has a minimum depth of 20 feet and a maximum width on the straight reaches of 450 feet, the width being considerably increased on curves. Permanent range lights will soon mark the channel from one end to the other, and there is a telephone line running along the river from Montreal to Crane Island, below Quebec. About 150 barges have been set out between Montreal and Quebec, and every problem is being made to solve the route over to traverse. Immediately upon the completion of this work two boats of the transatlantic lines now running to New York will be transferred to Montreal.

W. O. HOTCHKISS,

Secretary.

Billy Sunday may shock the sense of propriety and cause people to sit up and take notice, but he is a safe drawing card against crime and has no other, and his name on the program might have saved the Janesville summer theatre from defeat.

With four republicans and two democrats in the field for the office of United States senator, the voters of the state will be able to give the primary law full swing, and the chances are that a majority of them will be disappointed, whatever is the outcome.

The temperance crusade now going on throughout the country is being managed without the aid of the prohibition party. It is the first practical movement ever inaugurated, because based on law and order, and free from fanaticism.

Colonel Bryan promises to cut his speech of acceptance down to five thousand words. That will be long enough for all practical purposes, unless the weather moderates.

Jenkins and Lehnert are having a lively contest up in the 9th district with chances in favor of Jenkins.

PRESS COMMENT.

Uncle Sam's Warm Sympathy. Chicago Tribune: "Those forest fires in Canada constitute a real calamity, and Uncle Sam extends a sympathetic hand in sympathy."

Wager Seems a Good One. Fond du Lac Reporter: "It is announced that Senator La Follette is to stump for Taft. But he doesn't burst any blood vessels in the effort."

Why Bryan Should Be Drier. Chicago Inter Ocean: "It has done him so little good to accept it in the past that Mr. Bryan is going to be very brief in accepting it this time."

Fate's Irony. Madison Journal: "Mrs. Francis Park, author of 'How to Keep a Husband' is now suing for divorce. A companion book will now be in order."

A Boon Long Awaited. Milwaukee Sentinel: "If President Roosevelt had not reinstated those West Point cadets nobody would have had anything to kick about all summer."

Peary Outwits Beef Trust. Racing Times: "Peary has arrived at Labrador and taken on a supply of whale meat. The beef trust must have overlooked this loophole in its fortifications."

Heaven Closes Disappearing. El Paso Herald: "Now that the net has been put back on the gold coins, the coins that do not trust in God are becoming quite scarce, being sought by collectors."

Foredoomed. Machine News: "There is no danger but that a wife who is away will hear how her husband conducted himself during her absence, if there are three neighbors in the block."

Just a Chance for Francis. Exchange: "Former Gov. David R. Francis of Missouri is working to land the democratic nomination for president in 1912. Mr. Bryan may be tired of running by that time."

No Need to Dissemble. Machine Journal: "Those two reported Japanese spies at Camp Douglas should know better. They should have introduced themselves and would then have been extended the honors of the camp."

The People for Hughes. Grand Rapids (Mich.) Herald: "If New York state had a primary election law there is little doubt Governor Hughes would be re-nominated and possibly he will be as it is, despite the seeming opposition of the 'organization'."

Fine Chance for Rhymes. Kansas City Times: "For rhyming purposes Kern is the best name on any of the tickets. Burn, turn, learn, yearn, earn, stern, turn, turn, turn, turn, etc. The campaign poet will have easy going with the tailender."

Dick Croker's Poor Guess. Chicago Record-Herald: "Richard Croker has ventured to express the opinion that King Edward of England is the most popular man in the world. Yet it is improbable that Edward, running on the republican ticket, could carry Georgia."

World's Worst Possibility. Exchange: "The world's worst possibility lies in Kansas. He has openly declared that if a -directly grown were worn in the town where he lives his outfit would be sure to have just put drops in his eyes for the purpose of testing them for glasses."

Misguided Heroism, Maybe. Grand Rapids Herald: "There are heroes and heroines, but the story of Brigadier General Wardell, the retired veteran of two wars, who stole his lover wife from a Los Angeles hospital and escaped with her to Mexico, has pathos unusual in the annals of heroism."

Probably Not. St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "London papers are discussing the comparative merits of American and English orators. Has England any master of eloquence who can elicit a yell an hour and a half long, at a distance of several hundred miles, after he has been belted twice?"

Old Age Pensions Socialistic. Exchange: "The Providence Bulletin believes England has made a mistake in committing itself to a national scheme of old age pension. It says the step is dangerous because it is socialistic, and it believes it will have a serious effect upon the industry."

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: "London papers are discussing the comparative merits of American and English orators. Has England any master of eloquence who can elicit a yell an hour and a half long, at a distance of several hundred miles, after he has been belted twice?"

and women in the United Kingdom. The Bulletin believes the law will have the effect of making workers abandon plans for their future. In Germany the law has had an opposite effect.

Overlooked the Fair Sex. Appleton Crescent: "A New Jersey pastor recently passed around the cigars to the male members of his congregation in order that they might enjoy themselves during the delivery of his sermon. This might be all right as far as it goes, but why not let women smoke for the ladies?"

Affable as a Corner Grocer. Chicago Tribune: "Mr. Harriman's stay in Chicago was remarkable for reason of the manner in which he 'hooked up' for publication. Instead of the close mouthed Harriman of the earlier stages of his career in the higher circles of railroading, he conducted himself with the democracy of an affable corner grocer."

Very Much Roycroftite. La Crosse Tribune: "Dables are the dice of destiny." So says Albert Hubbard in the current Philistine. He says many true things, along with many untrue and shameless things, but he says nothing foreboding. A master of epigram, understanding thoroughly that he who follows conventions attracts no attention while he who goes counter to the existing order is noted often to the extent of being notorious, Hubbard never fails to be so unkind and epigrammatic as to shock and entertain.

Not in the Regenerator. Evening Wisconsin: "What the Wall Whitman enthusiasts assert they have to have been in the domain of poetry, Rodin, the French sculptor, really is in the world of plastic art—a regenerator—a titan genius rising superior to established forms and giving art a fresh impetus by liberating it from outgrown conventions. It is to be hoped that the statue of the Steier du Laut, after whom the city of Durbach is named—one of the picturesque figures in the era of French exploration of the northwest—will be made by Rodin and set up in the Zenith City of the Unsettled Seas. The subject is one which may well appeal to Rodin's sense as a Frenchman, and which, if he undertakes it, will stimulate him to do his best."

How They Travel in Europe. Circle Magazine: "Governor Chamberlain of Connecticut, after telling about the railroad accident which befell him not long ago, took occasion to make some thoughtful observations on European railroad customs. 'What amuses me about those lines,' he said, 'is the very slight degree of difference between the first, second, and third class carriages. I vote that if a carriage's rank were not printed on the door you would not know what it was.'

"I am aware of but one case of a real distinction between first, second, and third class. 'A friend of mine was touring Yorkshire last summer. An omnibus ran between two Yorkshire towns, and there were, of course, first, second, and third class seats in it, yet they were all quite alike. 'My friend sitting in his first class place thought he had been done until a long steen hill descended before him. 'The driver, halting at the foot of this hill, turned his head and shouted: 'First class passengers / keep their seats; second class, please dismount and walk; third class, get out and push.'

William B. Allison. Chicago Tribune: "He was not one of the 'magnetic' men of his time. He was not the originator of striking policies. He aimed to keep abreast with the people rather than to take the lead and invite them to follow. If he had been more bold and self-assertive his chances for a presidential nomination would have been better, but his conservatism saved him from the perils which sometimes beset more aggressive men. As it was, all who knew him put full faith in his judgment. They knew that they would be committed to no rash measures by following him. He was the model discreet and safe legislator."

Mr. Allison's death is deplorable because there are not so many men of his stamp in public life that one of them can easily be spared. It will also reopen the political conflict which was ended temporarily by Senator Allison's victory at the primaries. But thanks to that victory, he died with his mind at peace. He knew that the people of his state had not lost their confidence in him. He was almost eighty, and death had no terrors for him. He would have welcomed it if he had been repudiated by his state."

Under the above heading the Woman's club of Springfield, Ill., has sent broadcast the following notice: "The Woman's club offers the following prizes: "First—Three dollars for the best flower garden in each school district. "Second—A metal flag to be placed on the southeast corner of the best kept block of each school district—rewards to be made in September. "Third—A commemorative tree will be given the school district making the greatest improvement before September. "A flower show will be held in September, prizes to be announced hereafter. A badge button bearing the inscription, 'Springfield Beautiful, I Have Helped,' will be given every child who has done something toward making Springfield beautiful."

"Look out for the alley; that will count half! Don't throw papers on the street! No private grounds will be entered without invitation. Show what the children can do!"

Playgrounds and Citizenship. Playfields are a question of morals and citizenship and the welfare of the state in the last analysis, say nothing of physical development. Now Haven Journal-Courier.

A true story is this from the City of Elms. The country boy has for years been extolled for his working qualities. Now the city boy, says the New York Herald, trained and developed on municipal playgrounds, will come into his own."

SMILED IN DEATH'S FACE.

Henry R. Aman, a dreamy German musician of Chicago, and his foster son, Walter Knobel, aged twelve years, made a strange agreement to die together.

Carrying out the suicide compact, Aman killed the boy, stabbing him through the heart. He then tried to kill himself. He stabbed himself in the breast several times, but was discovered and taken to the hospital before he could complete his part of the death bargain.

A letter was found in Aman's pocket which read: "Please bury us together in one grave. Everything is against us. I do not want to live without my father. I go of my own free will."

The letter was signed "Walter" and was in a childish handwriting. It seems the sentimental Aman had long courted the boy's mother, who was a widow, and her refusal of him had turned his head.

Great affection existed between the boy and the man, and they were much together.

When discovered the man begged to be allowed to keep his word with the dead boy. Laying on his hospital cot, Aman said:

"I SMILED IN MY FACE WHEN I RAISED THE KNIFE. He was a brave boy and was not afraid to die."

Poor knave! Poor brave child! Reading the pitiful story, one is reminded that human nature has not changed much in 4,000 years.

One justly thinks of the story of that far off day told of Abraham and the offered sacrifice of his son Isaac and of how when the knife was about to descend from the hand of the patriarch to the heart of Isaac another victim was provided.

It has been suggested that no son would have acted in such a dreadful situation as Isaac is said to have acted and that therefore the story told in the old Jewish Scriptures cannot be true. The objection is not well taken.

One may find all through history many an Isaac and many a Walter Knobel.

"He smiled in my face when I raised the knife."

That there are some things more to be dreaded than sudden death may be discovered by a mere child. And the spirit of the human is strong enough to face its fell foe with a welcoming smile.

Is not that soul superiority some dim prophecy of the spirit's immortality?

This Time It Was Different.

"To tell the truth, Dr. Richards," said the wife of one of our most prosperous merchants, "I have neglected my teeth for years, since Dr. of this city filled some teeth for me."

"No hurt me so dreadfully that it laughed and cried in almost hysterics when at last he let me out of that chair."

"Well," said Dr. Richards, "how was it this time?"

"You never hurt me one bit," said she and the Dr. had just finished filling a lot of her teeth with gold.

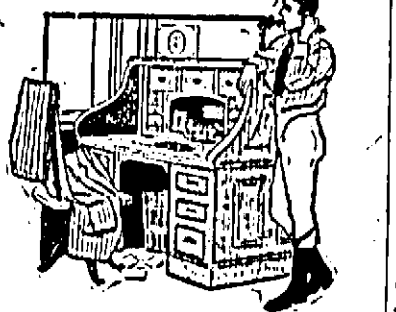

It is very pleasant to Dr. Richards to receive these kind words from bright, intelligent people who know when they receive good services and appreciate them.

The multitude of hearty endorsements given him in this city by people who had tried him and found his work really painless, makes him stand out clearly among his fellows as the man to go to for real painless dentistry in Janesville.

His prices are also reasonable, which is not a bad feature for the one who pays the bill.

FRANK W. OWEN DIES SUDDENLY

DIED AT ST. PAUL DEPOT AT 8:10 AFTER BUYING TICKET.

POSTMASTER AT FOOTVILLE

Complained of Severe Pains in His Side on the Way From Footville.

Frank W. Owen, of Footville, died very suddenly of heart failure this morning at the St. Paul passenger station at 8:10. Mr. Owen had just purchased three tickets for himself and his friends for Edgerton where they were going to attend the picnic today. He turned away and walked a few steps, spoke to a friend, and fell over dying. The remains were taken to Nelson's undertaking rooms.

Mr. Owen, who is the postmaster at Footville, a furniture dealer and undertaker, had arranged to drive over to Janesville this morning with Fred Snyder and to go from here to Edgerton to attend the Temperance picnic there today. He called Mr. Snyder up this morning and said he did not know whether he had better go or not as he had awakened in the night with a severe pain in his left side. He took a hot drink and felt so much better this morning that he finally decided to go. On the drive over from Footville, Mr. Owen twice complained of the pain in his side.

On reaching Janesville he left his rig at Nelson's livery and walked to the St. Paul station. There he purchased tickets for Edgerton and after making a remark to the ticket agent that it was a busy day for him, Mr. Owen moved away. District Attorney John Mohr stood next to Mr. Owen at the ticket window and Mr. Owen said "Hello John; awful hot today." Mr. Owen then stepped away and moved towards the men's waiting room. He stood there a few seconds and fell over dead into the arms of Fred Snyder, who was standing with him.

The remains were at once taken to Nelson's undertaking rooms. Mr. Owen leaves a wife and one son to mourn his loss. His son is Roy Owen, a graduate of the Janesville High school, who is now an instructor in the college of engineering at the University of Wisconsin.

Notice of the funeral will be given later.

RUNAWAY BOYS GO BACK TO CHICAGO

Abraham and Michael Kary Returned to Their Home This Morning.

Abraham and Michael Kary, two Syrian boys from Chicago, who were looked up last night by the police in response to a telegram from Detective Cadmore, returned to their home in Chicago this morning.

The two boys, who are twelve and thirteen years of age, ran away from their home in Chicago because, as they said, their parents ill-treated them. They were found at Allie Huzock's store on South Main street where they were visiting with Mr. Huzock. Rather than put the two youngsters in a cell over night the police permitted them to accompany Allie Huzock home and remain with him over night on their promise to go back this morning.

The two boys formerly lived in Janesville and were employed at the Marshall factory, which accounts for their coming to Janesville after they had run away.

There are discussions, there are wrangles, but they are done by proxy, by the lawyers. Once married, however, the principals must talk of money matters between themselves; its management, its disbursement.—London Lady.

Just a Billville Opinion. "We are so fond of worry," says a Billville philosopher, "that if we ever reach Paradise we'll worry about having to fly too high and sing too often. We once knew a man who passed his lifetime trying to find out what he had to worry about!"—Atlanta Constitution.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY ON SATURDAY NIGHT

House of T. J. Lloyd on Madison Street Had Lock Tampered With.

Saturday night about eleven o'clock, three men were seen hanging around E. W. Lowell's home on North High street, and a passerby seeing them kept watch on them for about five or ten minutes but thought that they were drunk as there was nothing very suspicious in their actions.

Later, about half past eleven, Mr. T. J. Lloyd, 160 Madison street, was aroused by a noise at the front door, and going there found that someone had broken the lock. Evidently it was the same party with was seen on North High street. Nothing was seen or heard of the depredators as they were probably scared away.

ITALIANS TO UNLOAD THE "TREATED" TIES

Regular Crew at C. & N. W. Yards Refuse to Undergo Tortures Caused by Crocoate.

A crew of Italians from Chicago has been sent to unload the thirty or more carloads of treated ties which have been received at the new yards and which the regular gang will not unload. During hot weather, such as has been experienced here recently, the pores of the skin are open and the crocoate with which the ties are treated works into the pores and causes considerable pain. This crocoate gets smeared on the men's faces when they are working under the hot sun and when they try to get it off it causes their faces to bleed. In the winter this trouble is not encountered. The regular gang did not think that they received enough compensation to undergo the discomfort of it so they have been put back at work ballasting the trucks in the new yards.

JAMES H. BUDD BURIED SUNDAY

WAS GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA FROM 1894 TO 1898.

BORN IN THIS CITY IN 1851

And Went West During Early Youth—Served One Term in Congress—Passed Away Last Thursday.

Through the kindness of H. M. Christy of Madras, Calif., there has been forwarded to the Gazette a clipping from the Fresno (Calif.) Morning Republican of Friday, July 31, containing an extended account of the life and services of James H. Budd, ex-Governor of the Golden State, and a native of Janesville, who passed away at Stockton on Thursday last. Death was due to uremia, resulting from Bright's disease.

The deceased had been a sufferer from rheumatism and kidney troubles for years and, though he visited European health resorts, was able to obtain little more than temporary relief. Quite recently he made an automobile trip with his brother, Attorney John Budd, to Lake Tahoe, where he contracted a severe cold and an acute attack of rheumatism. He was hurried to San Francisco and a few days later brought home to rest the benefit of a higher temperature. He improved at first, but gradually became worse, until his system refused to respond to treatment. He was at the point of death several times, but rallied with wonderful vitality. About 10 p. m. Wednesday he lapsed into unconsciousness, and the physicians saw that the end was only a matter of hours at best. Death came early next morning while surrounded by his family. His aged mother and his devoted wife were in constant attendance during his last hours.

The deceased was born in Janesville, Wis., May 18th 1851, and came to California in his boyhood. He graduated from the University of California, where he was a member of the Zeta Psi fraternity in 1873. He was admitted to the bar and settled in Stockton for the practice of his profession. Elected to congress, he served from 1883 to 1885, but declined the re-nomination. He was Democratic governor of California from 1891 to 1898.

He held minor political positions such as library trustee and police and fire commissioner in Stockton's earlier history, and before his election as governor was an officer of the national guard of California.

The superior court is not in session today, but a meeting of the bar association, of which the deceased was a member, has been called for 1:30 p. m. today.

The funeral took place Sunday morning at 9 o'clock from the late residence of the deceased, Rev. H. J. Sink of the Congregational church, officiating. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Rural cemetery. The deceased did not belong to any fraternal orders other than a college Greek letter society.

The attendance this year is larger than it has ever been before. This morning there was a floral parade in which about ten beautifully decorated rigs and several people on horseback took part. ## FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, August 5, 1868.—Accident—A boy by the name of Leo Holey, employed in the works of the Badger State Manufacturing company, fell from an elevation of three or four feet this afternoon, striking his back upon a lathe, and injuring himself severely. Surgical attendance was immediately procured and his hurts duly attended to.

Trials of Steam Engines—The 20th of the present month will be an occasion of considerable interest not only to the people of this city but will undoubtedly attract large numbers from the country. The persons who have never witnessed the working of a steam fire engine, this trial will be decidedly interesting. Arrangements have been made by our fire department to have a holiday and celebrate in a suitable manner this event in our city. We have no doubt but that it will be quite a gala day.

Case Needing Attention—During the early days of the harvest, a family of Germans from the fatherland, arrived in this city and were engaged by a man living near the city, to work in the fields. It is alleged that he agreed to give them the current price, but afterwards he only partially paid them. This left them in very destitute circumstances and they are now hanging around the depot, awaiting the result of a suit to recover the balance of their pay. Having nothing to live upon they are compelled to beg from house to house. We understand that the authorities have refused to aid them, but they ought to be helped to their journey's end for their own good and the good of the community, for it is now intimated that they have a contagious disease.

Washington, August 5.—The forthcoming statement of the public debt, which will be issued from the Treasury today, will show a large decrease in the amount of cash on hand. The available balance of the department is now less than at any time for several years. The payment of the July interest and the Russian purchase, with the old anti-war debt, lately matured, has largely reduced the gold balance, which, it is thought, will not soon reach the figure at which it has stood for the past few years.

MINOR HEIR IN ACTION.

Minor Heir, 201, is the light horse of the hour. In two weeks he has won more than a dozen races, but he has had, all told, only about a year's regular training. That two months ago he had never been a mile in 2:10 in his life and that outside of his races he has never been one below 2:05; when we consider that no other racer with a record of 2:01 or better has ever attained it except after numerous seasons of turf experience and by gradual approaches and persistent, judicious, and contrived, these facts do begin to realize that as a pure speed marvel Minor Heir has established a new criterion which upsets all the precedents of the past.

When we have added to this the further facts that no champion of any age or sex, in all the galaxy, from

Dan Patch down, had ever paced two successive heats in 2:02 or better at any period of their careers in or out of a race, and that of a race of five heats the performance at Terre Haute establishes an average of 2:04 3/5 per heat, whereas the best previous average was 2:05, his wonderful speed is more apparent.

Only one man, Charley Dean, his trainer and driver, seems not to be amazed at Minor Heir's achievement. He is the man who, when he shipped him away from home, predicted, and placed the prediction in writing, that he would come home with a record of 1:59 3/4 or better. Probably no experienced horseman at Terre Haute last Friday doubts the stud-bred ability that day, if fully extended and properly paced for a single mile to have verified this prediction then and there.

ATTORNEY BAKER AND PARTY IN MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

On Honeymoon, He, His Wife and Friend Drop Over Precipice Into Tall Tree—All Hurt.

New York, Aug. 5.—United States District Attorney Baker of Washington, who successfully prosecuted the government land frauds in the northwest, his bride of two months, and several friends who were accompanying them on their honeymoon, had an almost miraculous escape from death Tuesday. While the automobile in which they were travelling was running down a sharp hill on Walnut mountain, near Liberty, N. Y., the machine got out of control and plunged over a precipice nearly 300 feet in height. The machine, a big, covered car, turned three complete somersaults in the air and landed in the boughs of a tree 30 feet below the brink of the precipice. There it hung suspended, top downward, with the frightened occupants held prisoners in the locked top of the car. All were badly bruised and frightened, but none was seriously injured, with the exception of the chauffeur. His skull was fractured, one of his ears was torn off, and he sustained other injuries. He was taken to a hospital in Liberty for treatment.

Those in the car with Mr. Baker and his wife were Dr. G. E. Jaffre, the alienist who testified in the Thaw trial, and M. Mangum of Washington. As soon as they were rescued from their perilous position in the suspended automobile the party came to New York and after a rest at the Hotel Astor started for their homes.

GOOD NEWS FOR JAMAICA.

Insurance Companies Must Pay for Fire Losses in Quake.

Kington, Jamaica, Aug. 5.—After 11 months of litigation, the insurance companies have been defeated in their attempts to resist payment of the insurance claims resulting from the damage caused by the fire of January 14, 1907, when Kington was visited by a severe earthquake.

The news of this decision was received here Tuesday from England, where the appeals of the companies from the decision of the lower courts of Jamaica have been dismissed by the privy council. The petition taken by the policy holders has been vindicated and the companies will have to pay the claims. The amount involved is $4,000,000. The news has been received here with many manifestations of joy.

There is only one effective way to Stop Indigestion

Most digesters rely on pepsin. But pepsin digests albumen only. It is but one of the elements needed.

Starch, fats and phosphates each require something else.

Then half of digestion is done in the bowels, and pepsin can't do that.

It requires many ingredients to form a perfect digester, and they must be in liquid form.

Kodol has all these ingredients.

It does all that the stomach does—all that the bowels do. It digests any food—any mixture of foods—completely.

Partial digesters give only half-way help. There is always some food left to get hard, and irritate the stomach lining.

That irritation, even though slight, continues the inflammation. That is why the stomach fails to regain its strength. A weak stomach is like a lame ankle. Use or abuse it and it will never get well.

But give it complete rest—do all its work for it—and Nature very quickly restores its normal powers.

You can't do this by dieting, for there is always some food that doesn't digest.

You can't do it with partial digesters.

You can't do it with tonics, for they spur the stomach to but temporary activity.

It must be done with Kodol. The results then are instant and complete. Every food that you eat is digested. You get your full nourishment, yet the stomach gets absolute rest.

Our Guarantee

On the first dollar bottle of Kodol your druggist gives a signed guarantee. If it fails to do all we claim, your druggist returns your money. You take no risk whatever. This $1.00 bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the 50c bottle. Made by E. G. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

VOTE FOR WISCONSIN'S GRAND OLD MAN

For United States Senator

At The Primary Election

Tuesday September 1st 1908

No man in Wisconsin began earlier to support the people's cause, or has been truer to La Follette and the reforms he has championed, than United States Senator Isaac Stephenson. His help was indispensable. It was freely given.

CHAPTER XVII.

TWO days passed before David Cable was permitted to see his wife. During those trying hours he lived an age of agony in suspense. She had been removed to her home late on the night of the "hold-up," as the newspapers felt justified in calling it. He did not go to his office the next day nor the next, but haunted her door, sleepless, nervous, held close by dread. A dozen times at least he sought admittance to her room, but was always turned away, cursing the doctor and the nurses for their interference.

His worst fear, however, was that his wife would not forgive him. Not the dread of exposure nor his own shame or remorse, not even the punishment that the law might inflict, could be compared to the fear of what might be her lifelong hatred. He grew to feel that the doctor, the nurses, the servants, looked upon him with strange, unfriendly though respectful eyes. In his heart he believed that his wife had cursed him in their presence, laying bare his part in the unhappy transaction.

At last the suspense became unbearable. He had noticed a slight change in Jane's manner and at once attributed it to something his wife had said, for Jane had been allowed in the sick room. The discovery that she was not his child had not as yet struck deep into his understanding. In a vague sort of way he realized that she was different, now that he knew, but it was impossible for him to consider her in any other light than that of the years gone by. The time would come when the full realization would cut into his heart more deeply than now, but at present a clammy of his own making was forcing all other troubles into the background. His greatest desire was to reach his wife's side, to know the worst that could come of his suit for forgiveness.

The evening of the second day he swore that he would see her and alone. They admitted him, and he entered trembling in every nerve. She was lying, white and haggard, in her bed, her back toward him. He paused for an instant and was certain that he saw her shudder violently. It was significant. She feared and loathed him.

"Is it you, David?" he heard her ask weakly. "At last! Oh, I was afraid that something had happened to you! That—"

He threw himself on his knees beside the bed and wept with all the pent up bitterness and misery that was in him—and still he was afraid to speak to her. Not a word left his lips until he felt her hand in his hair—a tender, timid hand. It was then that he began pouring forth his cry for forgiveness. With a groan he checked her own appeal for mercy.

"We can talk about Jane another time, not now," he cried. "I must know that you forgive me. I don't care for anything—nothing else in the world."

When the nurse came in a few minutes later—"He's still here," upon the edge of the bed holding her hands in his. Their faces were radiant.

"Please stay out," he said, almost gruffly.

"For just a little while," his wife added gently. The nurse hesitated a moment and then left the room.

Frances Cable told him Jane's history so far as it was known to her. He listened dumbly.

"She will never know her true parents," said she in the end.

"No, I suppose not," said he, looking out of the window.

"You understand, don't you, David, dear?" she said feebly. "How I dreaded to have you learn the truth—after all these years, and above all, how I hoped that Jane might never know! I tried every means in my power to buy James Bannister's silence."

She buried her head shamefully in her arms. After a moment she went on: "He professes to love his son, but his love is an animal given the opportunity it would destroy. And yet Graydon worships him."

"Are you quite sure that Graydon is as unsuspecting as you think?"

"In regard to his father?"

"Oh, I'm sure of it. He is not a party to his father's schemes. If James Bannister has not already told Graydon, he never will. It is not his plan to do so. His only object has been to bribe me into submission. David, it will all come out right in the end, won't it? You'll forgive me?"

"Yes, dear, but this man," and David Cable shook with emotion as he spoke, "will have to answer to me. There will be no more to fear," he said reassuringly. "I'll crush him as I would a snake."

"David, you must not!"

"Don't worry," he broke in. "I'll attend to him and see that no harm comes to any one else. That man has no business among honest people."

"But, David, I was not honest with you," she confessed.

"That was a long time ago, and she's no more mine as she is yours. So, what's the odds now? It's a fact, I'll admit, but it can't be helped. It was this that the man whose anger almost a few hours before had led him almost to crime now readily absolved her of any blame."

"Poor child, poor child," she moaned. "It will break her heart. She is so proud and so happy."

"Yes, she's proud. There is good blood in her. I don't wonder now that I used to think she was such a marvel. She's—she's not just the same sort of stock that we are, take it as you will."

"She never must know the truth, David."

"She's bound to find it out, dear. We'd better tell her. It will be easier for her. Bannister's fangs must be made harmless forever. He shan't bother her. She'd better hear the story from us and not from him."

"But Graydon? She'll lose him, David."

"I'm not so sure of it. She's worthy of any man's love, and we must know that Graydon loves her. I'll trust to that. But, first of all, we must put it beyond the power of James Bannister to injure her in any shape or form. Then, when I go after him—Graydon or the Graydon—he'll know that there is such a place as hell."

"Be rational, David. Let us take our time and think well, dear. I can't bear the thought of the story that will go out concerning me—how I deceived you about Jane for years and years. What will people think of me? What will they say?" she almost wailed.

"Frances," said he, his voice tense and earnest, "that is between you and I. I intend to say to the world, if occasion demands, that I have known from the first that Jane was not our child. That will be—"

"Oh, David, you can't say that," she cried joyously.

"I shall say it, dear old partner. I shall say that you took her from the asylum with my consent. There is only James Bannister to call me a liar, and he will not dare."

"That old man Droom, David—his clerk. The man who saved me—he knows."

"He is in the boat with his master. He did save you, though. I'll spare him much for that. And I have more to fear from him than you think. Frances, I am sure he saw me right before last down there at the sea wall. He knows—I am morally certain, that you were not attacked by a robber."

"But, David, I was robbed. My rings and my pendant were taken by some one. If Droom was the first man at my side—after you—then he must have taken them."

"I can't charge him with the theft," groaned Cable. "He saved your life and he might ruin mine. I would give anything I have to know just how much he saw of the affair. I can't account for his presence there. It seems like fate."

"It is impossible for him to accuse you, David."

"It is impossible, I'm afraid. He may have seen me plainly."

"But I have described my assailant to the police. You do not answer the description in any particular."

In the next ten minutes the nurse came in twice to caution him against overtaxing her nerves, politely hinting that he should depart at once. There was no medicine, no nursing, no care that could have done her so much good as this hour's with her husband. "It hurt me more than I can tell you, David, when I saw that you were jealous of him. I could see it growing in you day after day, and yet I could not find the courage to make every thing clear to you. Oh, how could you have suspected me of that?"

"Because I am a man and because I love you enough to care what becomes of you. I was wrong, I am happy to confess. Forgive me, dear. I can't tell you how terrible the last month has been to me. I can't tell you of the bitter thoughts I have had nor the vicious deeds I have planned. I was almost insane. I was not accountable. I have meant to pay to you in the rest of the years that I live; I have meant to pay to my own conscience, and I also owe something to James Bannister. I shall try to pay all these different debts in the coin that they call for."

"We owe something, you and I, to Jane," said she as he arose to leave the room.

"A confession, and more love than ever, Frances. I love her with all my heart. When you are stronger we will tell her that she is our child. We have loved her so long and so well that she can't ask for better proof of our devotion. That terrible thing at the sea wall must remain our secret, dear. Tomorrow I shall begin pulling James Bannister's fangs."

He found Graydon downstairs with Jane. A sharp look into the young man's eyes convinced him that his questions concerning Mrs. Cable and the latest news concerning the efforts to take the handi were sincere. Cable held his hand for a long time; the firm, warm grasp was that of an honest man. As he stepped out into the night for a short walk over town he wondered, with a great pain in his heart, if Graydon Bannister would turn from Jane when he heard the truth concerning her.

TOWN INFORMATION BUREAU.

Scheme For Benefiting Strangers in a Community.

When a stranger moves into a town, there are certain problems which at once confront him, such as what to do with his ashes and garbage, what public school his children should attend, what taxes he should pay and when and where, says the Municipal Journal and Engineer. There are certain ordinances also which he should observe, such as that requiring cleaning the snow from his sidewalk within a certain time after each storm, not using a lawn sprinkler during certain hours, etc. Too often the citizen is informed of such an ordinance only when its penalty is enforced against him.

We do not know of any way in which a greater general benefit could be conferred by a citizens' society than by the compiling, publishing and general distribution of a pamphlet, giving in the briefest possible form the information suggested above, in connection with which it would be desirable to give the names and office addresses of the various city officials and a statement as to what particular function of the city government and maintenance appertains to each. We would also suggest that a certain member of the society or possibly one for each ward or other subdivision of the city be named as a committee on complaints, to whom any citizen may report what he considers a dereliction of any official or city employee, or, if it would seem too great a burden to impose upon one willing citizen to make him the mouthpiece for universal complaint, he could act as an information bureau and instruct citizens concerning what department or individual of the city government complaints should be made to.

GEN. W. GILCHRIST, CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF FLORIDA AND THE STATE HOUSE AT TALLAHASSEE.

Jacksonville, Fla.—The women of Florida object to having a bachelor governor. When Albert W. Gilchrist's name was proposed the women at once got busy and asserted their rights. An intimation of the purpose of their good intentions was given at a recent banquet, when Col. John P. Wall of Tampa suggested, that inasmuch as the male demagogues of Florida had in the first and second primaries named Gen. Albert W. Gilchrist for governor a third primary should be held at an early date, in which the female democrats of the state should select a wife for him. General Gilchrist was startled by this announcement but met the occasion not only with a bold front but with apparent relief, and stated he had no objections whatever to having his bachelorhood thus terminated by the suitor of the women of Florida. General Gilchrist, however, made one provision and that was that the prospective wife shall want to be the governor's wife as much as he wants to be governor. Those who know him, it is said entertain little doubt that should a fair favorite of the fem-inity of Florida be certified to him as a nominee of the ladies he would not seek to contest the result, but would accept the verdict and the nomination with characteristic grace and dignity, content in the assurance that if the men of democracy were who enough to select him for governor the women of democracy could be safely trusted to select a wife for him.

CAREER OF LATE SENATOR ALLISON

Had Been One of the Great Members of Greatest Deliberative Body in World Since 1871.

(By Associated Press.)

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 5.—All Iowa mourns the passing of Senator Will-

Senator Allison, who died at 1:33 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The arrangements for the funeral of Senator Wm. B. Allison will be completed today at a meeting of his friends.

Last of Family.
There is not a relative to consult, not a single wish to consider outside of the desire of a host of friends. Allison is not survived by a living blood relative. Devoted solely to public service, Allison's last few days were a fitting climax to the lonely man's life.

Friends Take Charge.
The Allison home today is in charge of a few intimate friends. The late senator's home is draped in mourning and is fairly filled with flowers. The body of the aged senator is prepared for burial and will in doubt be held in state for several hours later in the week.

Elaborate Preparations.
Elaborate preparations are being made to handle the enormous crowds of friends from all over the United States who will attend the services.

President Sends Telegram.
Oyster Bay, Aug. 5.—President Roosevelt today sent the following telegram to the late Senator Allison's secretary:

"Am inexpressibly shocked and concerned at the news. The whole country loses a man grown gray in the most honorable type of public service—a man who, because of his experience and trained ability, was one of the most efficient aids in achieving good government that we had in our country."

(Signed)
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Last Moments of Great Man.
Announcement of the senator's death came as a shock to his neighbors and the community, as few were aware of his illness. While for the last two years he was in declining health, and while he suffered loss of much vitality during the months of the present summer, there was no news emanating from his home indicating the seriousness of his condition.

Senator Allison Passed Through a Serious Illness.
At Washington last winter. Three weeks ago he consulted a Chicago physician and a fortnight ago went to his country home a few miles from this city to escape the heat and secure the benefits of country air and solitude. He remained there until last Saturday morning, when he was brought back to his city home.

Last Consciousness Saturday.
During last week nurses were employed to care for the senator for the first time since his illness, and this was the first intimation anyone had of a change for the worse in his condition. The senator lost consciousness after Saturday and did not fully recover his mental faculties up to time of his death. He had been under the constant surveillance of physicians for the last few days.

After his return home his condition grew rapidly worse, his mental vigor was wholly spent, and his condition was one of absolute dependence. Two nurses were in constant attendance upon him and efforts to maintain secrecy as to his condition were redoubled while every means was adopted to insure his rest.

Close Friends noted upon his return from Washington, following his attendance upon the last session of congress, that his mental faculties were not as keen as they had been.

Funeral arrangements will not be complete until late Wednesday. The funeral will probably be held Friday.

Sketch of His Career.
William Boyd Allison was born at Perry, Ohio, March 2, 1829, and was the son of John and Mary A. Allison. He lived on a farm throughout his boyhood and was educated at Allegheny college in Pennsylvania and at the Western Reserve college in Ohio. He was admitted to the bar in 1850 and was married at Ashland, Ohio, in February, 1854, to Miss Anna Carter, of Wooster, Ohio. He practiced law in Ohio in 1850 to 1857 and moved to Des Moines, Iowa, in 1857. He was a delegate to the Republican state convention in 1859 and that was his first political appearance. He was a delegate to the national Republican convention at Chicago in 1860. He was appointed a member of the governor's staff in 1861 and from that position he assisted in raising troops for the conflict with the south. He was made a member of congress in 1863 and served to 1871. Then he was elected United States senator from Iowa and served to his death.

He declined the secretaryship of the treasury in 1881. President Harrison in 1883 offered him the same position and again he declined. President McKinley in 1897 offered him the office again, but he thought it best to pass it up. He was chairman of the American delegates to the International Monetary conference held at Brussels in 1892. He was a candidate for the presidential nomination at the Republican convention in 1888 and in 1896.

Cummins to Seek Toga.
Lake Forest, Ill., Aug. 5.—Gov. Albert B. Cummins, of Iowa, Tuesday night announced himself as a candidate to succeed Senator Allison in congress. The governor paid a glowing tribute to his late political adversary's services to Iowa and the country at large, then frankly declared his ambition to be elected to the upper house by the legislature of his state. He also announced that "some one will be appointed at once to occupy Senator Allison's seat for the remaining months of his unexpired term."

Young Landowner of Baroness Comilla Suicide as Result of Apparition.

(Special to The Gazette.)

Rome, Aug. 5.—A strange story of haunting comes from Baroness Comilla, a village near Salerno, where a rich young landowner has committed suicide, being driven to the act, so he stated in a letter, by the continual presence of an apparition.

It was one night last year that the haunting began, when the landowner, Tommaso Giordano, who was only thirty years of age, returned home from a journey. As he approached the house he was surprised to see it lit up and with the door wide open.

Thinking thieves had broken in he rushed in, and directly he did so the lights all went out. The house was searched, nobody was found in it, and nothing could be found amiss. So Giordano went to bed thinking himself the victim of an illusion, but towards morning he was suddenly awakened.

Looking up he saw leaning over him an old woman dressed in black. This personage announced herself as a witch, and prophesied his violent death. Ever after then the landowner or averred he was continually persecuted by the witch, from whom in vain he tried to escape.

He continued to attend as usual to his affairs, but he always complained to his friends and servants that he could not get rid of the woman, who since the first night of her appearance, always visited him day and night whenever he was alone.

Giordano as a last resort went to several doctors, who certified him as of sound mind, and told him to travel and so divert his attention. But the woman would not leave him in the train, and last week he returned home, wrote letters to his friends, saying the witch had driven him to death, and then blew out his brains with a revolver.

A Strong Point Against Him.
"You say you have known this defendant for many years?"

"Yes, ever since he was a boy."

"Do you consider him to be of sound mind?"

"Well, I don't want to say anything against him if it isn't necessary."

"But you are under oath to speak the truth. Have you ever observed in his actions anything that would lead you to the belief he was weak mentally?"

"He married the daughter of a poor man when he might have become the son-in-law of a wealthy manufacturer who would have made him general manager of the business."

He Wouldn't Set.
A Washington photographer, now famous, told the other day how, in his youth, he was practicing his art in Cleveland when Mark Twain visited the town to lecture. Impressed with the humorist's splendid features, the photographer, at the lecture's end, sent up a note asking Mr. Clemens for a sitting. The reply that came back was characteristic. It said: "A sitting! Is thy servant a lion that he should do this thing?"

No Cause for Alarm.
"I can't understand my husband, doctor. I am afraid there is something terrible the matter with him."

"What are his symptoms?"

"Well, I often talk to him for half an hour at a time, and when I get through he hasn't the least idea what I've been saying."

"Do not worry any more about your husband. I wish I had his gift."

Prejudice.
"Robert, this appalling paper is very poor," complained the small boy's teacher, "Nearly every word is marked wrong."

"It wouldn't have been so bad," protested Robert, "but Annie corrected my paper, and she's mad at me, and for every little letter that I got wrong she crossed out the whole word."

Hardships of the Rich.
"They say old Gotalotto was pretty hard hit during the recent panic."
